Letter from the Director

Dear Team,

I feel blessed and happy to share that during Q2 at Anant Defence, we have established the 'Gajanan Maharaj Temple', a dream come true for us. For the last 9 months, it has been a relentless, meticulous and dedicated journey for all those who have been associated in establishing this Temple. This is the culture at Anant that we are proud of, and for which we live for each day: Once committed, to deliver with precision.

With the recent depreciation of the Indian Rupee against the US Dollar, it further emphasizes on the value of 'Make in India', and we are absolutely aligned to this ideology. We at Anant have always strived for 'Making local and Going global'. For the last 10+ years, we have always given indigenized solutions successfully thereby helping our customers by safeguarding them from exchange volatility and supply-chain dependability. Our journey is on and we are looking for more such projects, whereby we can add value and reduce the dependency on Imports. Additionally, our Exports team is working to enhance our exports based on orders and opportunities in hand. We can expect to see higher exports during the current financial year. The sales and order booking has improved in Q2, as compared to Q1. This gives us the confidence that the business is coming back to normal and the team is confident towards achieving the targeted growth. The Hon. Prime Minister's scheme is also coming handy for the MSME sector (like us) in order to bridge up short-term fund requirements. Our sales and marketing team is focusing on expanding our customer base in order to add products to our portfolio. With more and more global companies in defense, setting up their manufacturing base in India, this gives us immense opportunities to partner with such companies. The outlook for Q3 looks more exciting for two reasons, firstly, Deepawali - the great festival of lights will be here. I wish you all (Anant family, Supply Partners and Customers) in advance, a 'Very Happy and Prosperous festive time'. Secondly, with the vibrant Anant Team in place, I eagerly look forward to continue the Q2 momentum for the rest of the year, in order to achieve desired results.

Jai Hind!
Yours Truly,
Jitendra Mehta
Director (Operations)
